To Those who have served...

Our School - challenge, skills, scholarship.

Mr. Meloy

Calm, cool, collected. Still our General.

It is said that the only thing that is constant of this world is change. This principle is certainly true in the life of Schutz where through the years, kids, teachers, houseparents, workers, and dogs have all changed. Even the location of the school has changed from Alexandria to Assiut, to Alexandria, to Switzerland and back to Alexandria. In the midst of all of this confusing change, we may well ask what it is that remains constant. Any Schutzite will have only one answer: Mr. Meloy.

It is he who has listened to our problems, sympathetically; who has reasoned with us, logically; who has disciplined us, firmly; who has laughed with us, gladly; who has cried with us, sorrowfully. He has guided the physical growth of the school from 30 students, occupying one house in Assiut, to 150 students, straining the present campus. He has created the casual, informal tone of the school, and through it, part of our lives. He has been doing this for more than 10 years! Few of us have, in our brief time here, realized that this marks a full decade during which Mr. Meloy has been guiding the school.

We can all say: Here is a man.
When comes such another!

Our Home - understanding, comfort, love.

Mr. and Mrs. McBride

The Schutz boarders needed something - so Mr. and Mrs. Allan K. McBride supplied it by leaving a family, a home, and a comfortable retirement in East Lansing, Michigan, to come to Egypt to be our houseparents.

The presence of the McBrides at Schutz has meant the presence of manners and courtesy in those who previously had lacked it. Now girls wear dresses to supper, fewer boys are seen sitting in the presence of girls, and the males of Schutz are sporting thinner hair do's.

A typical sight on Schutz campus this year has been towels, toilet-paper, and tooth brushes piled high in the arms of Mr. McBride as he accompanies Mrs. McBride on her daily inspection rounds. Nearly everyone has gotten used to the smell of pipe and the occasional cigars that mean Mr. McBride. Likewise the jingle of keys and an ear always open to complaints, problems, and joy mean that Mrs. McBride is near.

Giving us understanding, comfort, discipline, and a "little more spice for life" the McBrides have made our year one of great worth.

Our Church - friendly hand, Amos, a guiding light.

Mr. Stearns

Reverend G.W. Stearns, our new chaplain and Bible teacher, arrived here in Alexandria, Egypt in August. At the beginning of the school year, he soon became well-acquainted with all of the students.

Bible classes for each grade were shortly begun, and the prophets, judges, kings, and important dates in the Old Testament were soon being memorized by all.

Aside from his classroom and campus duties, Rev. Stearns preaches every Sunday at The American Community Church. He also fulfills his calling as a minister, visiting in many parts of Alexandria. Mr. Stearns keeps his office free so students can consult with him on any religious problems they may have.

Mr. Stearns has been a tremendous addition to the Schutz staff, and his contributions have been appreciated by all.

*Guidance - a friendly smile, sound advice,

Miss Ray

This year we were privileged to have with us Miss Margaret Ray, our first guidance counselor. She was formerly Head Counselor of Los Angeles High School.

Here Miss Ray plans students' programs, advises on college choices, and has helped revise the Schutz curriculum. Her friendly smile is seen everywhere, and we are grateful for all she has done for us.

GOOD-BYE - THANK YOU

As the year comes to a close, not only the students of Schutz will leave, but several of our beloved teachers as well. We say "Good-bye. Thank-you" to them all, for they have helped us greatly in the time they have been here.

Good-bye to Mr. Williams, our "coach," means farewell to basketball practices at night, notices on the bulletin boards about immense chemistry tests, and farewell to the table where all vegetables are eaten, including cousa.

Good-bye to Mr. Watkins, our lawyer and former Schutz student, means saying good-bye to the old battered hat and baggy pants seen at his gym classes, the loud booming, "How you be!" and the stimulating history classes.

Good-bye to Mrs. Watkins will mean an end to the "Learn to be a Lady in 40 Gym Classes" program, the dramatic English lessons, and the youngest-hearted teacher at Schutz.

Mr. Fox, "jack of all trades," will take with him the Thursday evening church choir practices, the sound of the saw in shop, and lovely algebra memories.

When we say good-bye to Mrs. Fox, we will be waving away memories of fragrant Home Ec. classes, that red-knit suit and cap combination, and an ever-ready soul to diet!

We will say good-bye to all Scholastic Magazines when Miss Holmes goes, as well as imaginative assembly programs, and all those piles of typing exercises done over ten times.

We will miss all the teachers who are leaving, and to whom we have grown accustomed. We appreciate all that they have done for us. May their next year be as pleasant for them as this one was for us.

Senior Class Officers

It is every student's wish to be a senior - and so was it ours. With tears for those who had left us and smiles for those who had joined us, we welcomed September 1965 - the year when we would be the graduating class had finally arrived!

It seems to me, as may to other members of our class, that we are more of a group this year. This may be due to the fact that we are so few or maybe we have finally realized each other's worth.

We are an interesting lot. Many of us speak different languages, and some of us have "unsurpassed" talents. Each of us comes from a different background - it is this function of new ideas that makes us such a pleasant group.

Some of us have come through high school together, others of us have just met this year; however, we shall definitely be sorry when we will have to go on our ways, for as the French say, "To say good - bye is to die a little."

Though extremely unorganized, our class seems to pull through with a solution for every situation. In the carnival, sponsored by Student Council, we had every member of our class at one time or another, bent over the hot stove cooking super crêpe suzettes. Too many cooks spoil the broth?

We decided to be original when it came time for our class to publish a school newspaper. It was written completely in satire. Critics say that it was a tremendous paper.

Under the leadership of our class sponsor, Mrs. Watkins, we had a quiz show for our assembly. We considered it quite a success.

If our class becomes more organized we will have fewer ulcers, and we will have a chance to be a strong senior class.

The Sophomore Class of 1965-1966, with the school lawyer, Mr. Charles B. Watkins, at the helm, has come through this year with flying colors, a few bruises, and plenty of comments. The captain, Wayne Halsema, though once in awhile threatened with mutiny, kept things under control. Sometimes the first mate, Becky Ammon, wondered if it were she or the captain who ran the ship, though. Our log-keeper, Martha Lindholm, was very dependable, and could always be counted on to read the minutes that never had too much to them. Our man-ashore, Paul Clark, who reported to the shipping company once a week, was voted in after David Meloy, our first choice, became vice-president of that same company.

Different members of our crew were outstanding in different ways. Don Rhea has made the pink elephant famous by using it as his composition subject every time Mr. Tony asks for a little something. Mark Young and Paul Clark have acquired the art of erasing the boards in geometry slowly so as to stall for time. But in serious things, Becky Ammon, the class pianist, rates only second to Ginny Watkins. Ronald Pollock and Martha Lindholm are Dr. Pastidis' pride and joy, our mathematical geniuses.

Of this class, only two have gone ashore. Martine Bondoux and John Gould are both shipmates that have been greatly missed.

In spite of the bad weather at times, our class mascot, Eloise's private brown and white rabbit, Harvey, has managed to keep in the crow's nest, and tells us that only the best is ahead.....

The Schutz freshmen this year are extremely lively. Some outstanding persons in this category include Joe Hodges, Jim Hoffmeier, Jerry Miller, and Henry Thompson. Already, two of our group have left us. One was Jordan Thrall, the other Francis Bondoux.

There are 14 freshman boarders and 8 day students in our class this year. The boys outnumber the girls 14 to 8. (thankfully!)

Our main activities are connected with the Junior High students of Schutz. These activities include Youth Fellowship, outings at Mariut, our New Year party, and marshmallow roasts. Often, staff members have organized parties solely for the benefit of the freshman class.

Our class officers are Phil Sandilands, President; Eddie Nicholas, Vice President; Phil Dorr, Student Council Representative; and Othon Andosoglu, Secretary Treasurer.

We, the freshman class have enjoyed greatly "belonging" in Schutz affairs, such as publishing a class newspaper and participating in assembly.

Our intelligence ranges from A to somewhere below A. Our first research papers were all very good. They say most everyone got a satisfactory and there were some outstandings.

We've had a nice year, and we hope the freshmen class of next year will enjoy their year as much.

Our class this year is made up of fifteen people from five different countries. We stick together whenever necessary --- for tests teachers have forgotten and methods on how to get the homework done in five minutes.

We have lots of fun in Arab History going on field trips, learning about the Pharoahs, Cleopatra, and Napoleon.

I suppose we'll all fail science with "flying colors." We all have our little sections we like best. One time Mr. Meloy hit Tibor over the head with a science book and asked what kind of energy that was. Another time he dragged Suzie's dead body up the stairs and into a chair, then threw her out the window and asked what happened when she splashed on the ground.

The most fun we had in math was the time Mrs. Fox cut Tibor's hair in class; this took up more than half the period.

In English we have read Call of the Wild and The Yearling. We had lots of fun writing to Aunt Tillie, thanking her for the red knee socks and the blue ear muffs which she had knitted for us, and we hated.

Mrs. Watkins couldn't stand another class with us, so we now have Mrs. Hendrick for our typing teacher.

All in all it's been a pretty good year. We will all miss Susie, Ann Turnbull, Kirk and Mike who are going back to the states, but for those who are left, "Have a good summer, and see you next year!"

Our class is the smallest Jr. High class. As it is, we have too many boys and not enough girls. (Some of the girls enjoy it.) The boys enjoy priority in class matters.

At the carnival, at the beginning of the year, our class made the most money selling hamburgers. This was partly because we accepted meat donations from day student mothers.

For our class assembly, we did two silhouette plays that were written by class members. Paul Dorr starred in "The Operation" as an unsuccessful doctor, Stan Sehested as the unfortunate patient. In "The Fight" Soc Andosoglu starred as Clay, and Steve Troyer as Patterson.

Our class dictator is Stan, our honorary vice - president, John, our trustworthy treasurer, Kenny, and our minute - losing secretary, Debbie. Carol is our student council representative, and Tim is our sergeant at arms.

Most of our classes are hard for us this year. In science we have seen Mr. Williams' skin turn yellow when he put nitric acid on it. He also dropped a brick on Stan's toe showing us kinetic energy and how it loses its energy on the object it hits. One of the easiest subjects for the girls is gym. (Mrs. Watkins is our teacher.) The boys' gym looks hard to us, but they say they enjoy it.

Although the schoolwork is harder then last year's, we have enjoyed this year up with the "big guys."

The sixth grade class of Schutz, 1965 - 1966, is made up of sixteen students. The boys are greatly outnumbered, six to ten. Though we are small in number we are very ambitious. We have already, because we were studying Ancient Egypt, gone to Cairo. We have seen the sphinx, gone inside the great pyramid and visited the museum.

Our teacher is Mrs. Taylor, wife of Peter Taylor, a famous mountain climber.

We put on a most stupendous play. It was a Chinese play called "The Stolen Prince" which turned out to be a big success.

We are a pretty intelligent group and have had lots of fun together.

There are two third graders, eight fourth graders and eight fifth graders. We are writing Miss Penny Pollock's class in Pennsylvania. We have ten subjects. In spite of all our hardships, we have a lot of fun. Our teacher is Miss Allan. We like her very much. In geography we are studying the U.S.A. Our French teacher is Mrs. Moraitis. She is very nice to us. We play games and get candy for prizes. She took us to the zoo to learn the names of the animals. In English, we are learning to write reports. We think they are fun. Ustaz Ahmed and Miss Ragaa are our Arabic teachers.

At the beginning of the year we had a going-away party for Diana Hartman, who left us in October. In geography, we color maps, and at the end of the year, we will have a map of each state.

We find all our classes interesting. Some we look forward to, others we don't. Most of the girls and boys in our class go to the club-of-the-month after school on Wednesday. We don't have very much homework, but enough.

Student Council worked to build school spirit.

M. Rhea, B. Pollock, F. Farooq, M. Dennis, D. Meloy

The student council this year, with Max Dennis as its president, has expanded its activities greatly. Starting the year off with a school picnic out at Sidi Bishr, and sponsoring a school carnival, the student council has continued to fulfill its president's promise to promote more school spirit, to make the student body more united, and to increase school activities. Max Dennis, David Meloy, and Farhanna Farooq are doing their best at the head of the student body.

The weather during the winter months did not permit as much activity as the school would have liked, but none-the-less, it had various lifts from the everyday routine of life such as movies and square dances. During the latter part of the year, however, the participation of the student body was increased by the organization of Courtesy Court, beach parties, a talent show, plays, and other activities.

The motto of the student council was one that is well worth fulfilling. "Our aim was and is to promote a better relationship between the day students, their parents, the boarders, and the staff of Schutz."

Thank you, Max, David and Farhanna, for a wonderful year.

The Stamp Club is a non-profit organization by chance rather than design, composed of eleven boy members and their staff sponsor, Mr. Ayoub. Dues in the club are ten piasters a year, and all wishing to join may do so.

The pinnacle of Alexandria's philatelic year was the club's exhibition in February, to which each member contributed the objets de resistance of his collection.

Meetings are held each Friday afternoon when donations are distributed, outside collections examined, dues collected, and the eager young philatelists debate the important issues of the day.

The club has embarked upon a world wide campaign for donations by using a special stamp on all letters mailed from Schutz. Results to date have exceeded all our dreams.

Bill Pollock is the President-Secretary-Treasurer.

This year, the church choir, under the direction of Mr. Fox, sang almost every Sunday in Stanley Bay Church. The choir, composed of volunteers from among the boarders, practiced Thursday evenings. The choir sang numbers chosen from the various sources in the music cupboard. The Church members have appreciated the added meaning that the music has given to the Church service.

This year's Schutz Concert Choir continues the tradition of its predecessors by furthering the musical renaissance the school has enjoyed since Mr. Tony joined the faculty. In Mr. Tony's opinion, this year's Choir is the best balanced one he has directed. Consisting of twelve sopranos, six altos, six tenors and six basses, the Choir is well-rounded and gives Mr. Tony the tone and volume he has been looking for.

Rehearsals are lively sessions which feature the often spectacular eruptions of "the little volcano", Joe Hodges, and enthusiastic discussions of which numbers to perform and how the composer meant them to be sung. Nevertheless, Mr. Tony's vigorous direction ensures that the work is done.

One of the most notable features of the year for Choir members has been Mr. Tony's earnest solicitations for our health. Choir members have gorged themselves on vitamin and sulfa pills which Mr. Tony has dispensed to all with a cheerful insistence. Choir members diligently sucked lemons, despite such bitter lamentations as "I hate the taste" and "Our enamel, M'sieu!"

The Choir has performed at the school in the U.N. Day Program and the Christmas Program and in the Christmas Programs at the nearby Palais and Stanley Bay Churches.

The real thrills of the year have been the concert in Tanta and the one in Cairo at which the Choir performed before the American Community. The Spring Concerts were also a success.

Students gave time and effort to music;

Ginny is our most talented piano player. Her favorite composer is Beethoven. Ginny plans to go to Oberlin College where she will continue her musical study. We are most grateful to Ginny for her help in Church, in chapel and accompanying the Concert Choir.

Becky is another one of our major piano players. Her favorite composers are Beethoven and Bach. This is Becky's seventh year of taking piano lessons. She plans to continue her study of music but not to make it her career. We are thankful to Becky for her organ and piano music in Church and chapel.

Rebekah is our third most well known pianist. Her favorite composer is Handel. Rebekah has taken piano lessons for five years, and this year she has begun organ lessons. Rebekah enjoys music very much, but she does not plan to study it to a great extent in college. We appreciate Rebekah's help on the piano in chapel.

The various toots and squeaks coming from the chapel every Thursday afternoon belong to the Schutz band. Stanzas of "The Star Spangled Banner," "America, the Beautiful," "God Save the Queen," and other patriotic songs are led by the director, Mr. Christo Neamonitis. Classical pieces include "La Flute Enchantée." Their special numbers for the Christmas program were: "Silent Night," "Angels We Have Heard on High," and "Joy to the World." Before Christmas the excellent trumpet player, John Gould, transferred to the States. In February, the band gave a concert for the students which included patriotic numbers. The highlight of the year was the combined concert with Schutz and Kanis Kerron School given in May.

Late last fall, in December, a drama club was organized by Mrs. Fox. A play was produced for the Christmas program, "A White Rose", but in January the group split up. Mrs. Fox took the Jr. Hi group and Miss Klonaris the Sr. hi group. Both of the groups started to work on plays which were produced in March. The Jr. Hi. chose a play needing little setting, a light-hearted comedy, "Antic Spring", which gave us all a lift. The Sr. Hi. worked on the tragic "Riders to the Sea", and it was performed with great feeling and skill. Both sponsors are well satisfied, and the actors feel that they have accomplished something that is at least worth fame.

Cub Scouts started out late this year, but by January were in full swing. Having one of the smallest packs this side of the Nile has been some what of a disadvantage, but our seven member group has managed well. Supervision and leadership has been ably provided by Mrs. Iverson, Mrs. Kemeny, Mrs. Harrison and Wayne Halsema. The weekly meeting activities ranged from working on our logbooks to hearing some of Rudyard's jungle stories. Another popular activity was eating the refreshments provided both by the school and by some of the mothers. With our weekly dues Set at 10 piasters, the cub scouts were able to earn a trip at the end of the year. The packleaders earnestly hope that next year there will be more Cubs in the Schutz pack.

Every Wednesday, the gradeschool children met in the Home Ec. room with Mrs. Fox, Miss Allan, and Mrs. Stearns for the Club-of-the-Month. Each month some new project was started. In October the children made Halloween costumes. During November and December, they concentrated on Christmas gifts, and in January, the girls knitted doll clothes and headbands, while the boys did wood carving.

Most of the children participated in all of these activities, and had a wonderful time.

Under the leadership of Coach Sam. Williams, the Schutz Watchdogs, Max Dennis, James Sandilands, Ron Beck, Bruce Young, Ron Pollock, Jim Hoffmeier, Paul Clark, Mark Young, and Henry Thompson are being guided through another exciting season. The team is very inexperienced, Captain Max Dennis being the only one with previous varsity experience. Nevertheless, the spirit and desire of strong competition has enabled the team to hold its own.

The Girls Varsity team took a beating this year from CAC, but came back with a heroic effort, and kept up a good team spirit through the season. After losing the game with CAC, Eloise Quick, high scorer, comforted a student of Schutz saying, "Malish. Its only a game, and we've won our share against these guys. Besides, there's always the next game to play." In victory and in defeat, the courage of the team was undaunted.

When the next game was played, Eloise made good her words, and together with the rest of the team, the game was won and spirits were raised.

J-V team lacked in height, but fought valiantly.

Through their gallant efforts to win victories, the 1965-66 Junoir Varsity basketball team has proved that it doesn't take only height and experience to have a good team. Although they greatly lacked in these two components, the dominant spirit which was upheld throughout the year compensated for them.

*Cheerleaders sparked student spirit;

Schutz's six trim cheerleaders gave color, support, and spirit to our games this year. They worked hard before each game learning new cheers, and perfecting old ones. Many of the cheers were brightened with pom-poms which the girls made themselves. The girls gave the school and the teams enjoyment, and in doing so, they enjoyed themselves, which is the essence of team spirit.

Oh Schutz, our Schutz;
We honor and praise thee
For all we gain in our studies here.
Our sports are the best.
Our knowledge our quest,
Our school life is filled
With the greatest of zest.
Our voices ring, to thee we sing,
Our loyalty and true friendship and love
We'll always bring.
